Get Hands-on with QlikView

15 December 2011

This is an opportunity to try out QlikView in an interactive session guided by an experienced Business Intelligence consultant. He will provide independent and unbiased advice on what you can do with the product and how it compares with other options you may have. You will be able to check out what you may have heard or test what you hope for from the product in a relaxed and informal setting. Join us and other clients who will also be there to get a better understanding of the product.

When: Thursday 15 December, 10:00 – 13:00, with lunch to follow
Where: QlikTech Offices, Reading

Please note that the workshop is limited to 10 people, register now to avoid disappointment.

Objective

To help you access and assess QlikView in a setting that is free of commercial pressures and rich in information.

Content

The session will begin with a concise introduction to QlikView illustrated with a demonstration; the main session will consist of hands-on use of QlikView guided by our consultants. There will be ample opportunity to discuss how the differing requirements of the participants might be met by QlikView, creating a well-rounded understanding of the product.

Is it for you?

Are you considering QlikView? Would you like to get a better understanding of its capabilities and benefit from some hands-on experience of the product? If so, this workshop will be a worthwhile use of your time

Format

The room will be set up in a classroom style with each attendee having a PC. Attendees will follow a business scenario using QlikView applications that are mocked up from real applications. Two of our consultants will be facilitating and providing support for the morning. There is ample of opportunity for interaction.
